Who will start the work to secure the nomination of city officers next year by the direct plan?

It is fair to presume that Vice President Fairbanks will not oppose the appointment of Secretary Taft for a place on the supreme bench.

The city license in Cadillac for liquor dealers is $200 and a healthy agitation on to increase the amount to $500naking the total license $1,000,

Some eastern journals have again been venting their spleen on Senator Alger. Every time one of these indecent journals make an attack on the Senator it strengthens him with the people of Michigan.

The Senate did just about the right thing in voting to admit Oklahoma and Indian Territory as one state and refusing the same privilege to Arizona and New Mexico. Senator Burrows led the fight to accomplish this end and in the house it certainly seems that Sen. Burrow's view is the proper one.

The subject of more stringent naturalization laws is being given a good deal of attention in congress-and it is time that radical action was taken. A bill trust as was the case with the Cuban was reported in the house this week requiring every applicant to read and speak the English language and to be it offered relief to the Filipinos is just able to write some language before he what has made it so hard to secure juscan obtain citizenship. It should tice for the American farmer and the speedily become a law and it is hoped small American investor who have put every Michigan representative will give their labor and money into this new and the bill hearty support.

It would seem as though there was of the grand jury. That body returned two indictments against Supervisor F. for the court house on April 21st, 1905, and the other for voting to make the final payment to the Rickmans on their April 21st, but do not record him as voting for or against any questions coming before the board on that date. The facts are that Supr. Van Deusen was taken sick during the forenoon and against him. The second indictment was passed upon by Judge Weist in the case against Supr. Martin and the latrule would apply in the case against industry were the men who after all Supr Van Deusen why should not the were the truest to the best that is in and save any further expense to the small project. The net surplus since the republicans were returned to power nine years ago amounts to over $91,000. It is a splendid showing when it is recalled that a war was fought with Spain, the Philippines taken and a large payment made to Spain for the islands, and that $60,000,000 have been drawn from the treasury for Panama expendition. And so it is a notable victory which takings. It is easy to stand pat on such sistent fighter, he has nevertheless reresults. Government expenses increase | tained the friendship, respect and ading in more revenue this year than the in the house by administration pressure treasury officials predicted. Surely it is and force of numbers of those who were a record of which all republicans have reason to be proud.

Victory for Beet Sugar.

The beet sugar industry in Michigan has been given another lease of life. The fight was won in the senate committee at Washington after a most determined fight on the part of the friends of the judustry who had been defeated easy one in the senate either. The need the most fiercely fought of the administhe Philippines is a need which appeals to everyone. No fair minded person toward any measure which will grant can but admit that this country has a real relief to the Filipinos but they are duty to perform there. The result was that when the administration declared who will fight to prevent their being the sole panacea for the commercial relief of the islands and brought all the pines while in reality paying tribute to enormous pressure of which it is the sugar trust, and both Congressman capable under the lead of the President to accomplied this end, the ontlook for the American beet sugar industry began to look gloomy indeed. The same thing had been fought out

THE OWOSSO TIMES proposed to help the industries of that island. The same arguments were then used for and against the reduction of the Cuban tariff that have been used this time for the reduction of the Philippine tariff. The same coercive administration pressure was brought to bear and the deed was done. Today cannot point out where it has done the Gaban planter any good. The bad effect on the American beet sugar industry has been only too evident in the shutting down of a number of factories. But lastly there has been just exactly the benefit which the beet sugar makers declared there would be-a great source of added profit to the sugar trust. It was a popular thing, and looked like the generous thing toward the Cubans -to give them the reduction in dutybut to the friends of the American industry who were thoroughly posted on the ins and outs of the situation it was only too evident in advance where the real benefit of the reduction would go. And events justified their prophecies. Now the fight has been to do the same thing again in the case of the Philippines. As already said, everyone wishes to do the fair and generous while the result is decidedly unpopular thing by the Philippines. We wish to see them prosperous, and to see greatly quickened business activity throughout the islands, but we do not wish to see the accomplishment of this aim made to merely play into the hands of the sugar tariff. And the desire to favor anything which even merely on the face of growing industry. Yet even if the proposed measure was the best one which could be devised for the Philippines, some carelessness at least with the work there could still be no justice in making this one new American industry bear the whole burden of it. But the fact is P. Van Deusen, of Fairfield; one for that the proposed measure would do wrongfully voting for appropriations little if any more for the Philippines than the other did for Cuba. The sugar trust in this case too stands yisors show that Supr. Van Deusen was | the senate committee that the measure present at roll call on the morning of would not in the actual working out be of the benefit to the Philippines which it was claimed it would be A great deal has been printed censuring the friends of the beet sugar industry for their determined fights. Inasked to be excused for the balance of surgents they have been dubbed, and the day and took no part whatever in every possible effort to discredit them any of the work of the board. This with the administration, and to whip would dispose of the first indictment them into line, have been made. And yet the day is likely to come when it will be acknowledged that these same insurgents who fought so valiantly for ter's discharge ordered. As the same the protection of this typical American secuting attorney nolle prose the case republican traditions. It will be adrepublican traditions. It will be admitted that they were the ones who remembered best the pledges made by the party to this new industry, and at the first time since May 1, 1904, the same time it is not unlikely that they will in the end be found to be the men who will devise some method for use at that time amounted to $1.

The men who will devise some method for 02,003, notwithstanding the fact that islands than the trust coddling devices $12,000,000 have been expended during which the American farmer and the

its expenditure of many million dollars the doughty fighters for the beet sugar yearly has been established during this industry have won, and among all of period. During nearly all these years the fighters there is none who has won the Dingley tariff has been in operation. Acknowledged on expansion, and of great public under- every hand the most determined, percontinually, but the Dingley tariff has miration of the men he has been fightkept up with the demands and is bring. ing the bardest. And so, while beaten whipped into line, he has continued the fight while the matter has been before the senate committee and has given the Michigan member of that committee, Senator Burrows, the most loyal and valuable assistance. The victory therefore belongs to both of these men who dared to face what was through some unaccountable misunderstanding both a popular measure in probably the in the house. And the fight was no greater part of the county, and one of of assisting in improving conditions in tration measures. The people of Michigan are ready to pay their share proud of having men at Washington that the free admission of sugar was compelled to pay the lion's share of the cost of seeming to benefit the Philip-
